

ASKS CONGRESS TO CONSOLIDATE ALL ITS BUDGET ITEMS

Senator Harry F. Byrd (D) Calls On Body To Change Its Rules

INFLATION ANSWER

Claims Intelligent Revision Of Budget Is Very Necessary

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D) Va., calls upon the new congress to change its rules and consolidate all budget items into a single bill kept constantly under scrutiny at all stages of consideration. Byrd sounds his call in the second installment of a two-part article written exclusively for International News Service. He asserts that "intelligent revision of the budget as a whole by congress" is the answer to an inflation which threatens the American system of enterprise and the well-being of the entire world.

By Senator Harry F. Byrd Democrat, of Virginia (Written expressly for International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 — (INS) — Commitments already made by the federal government and those indicated to date by the new administration would take three and three-quarter billions of dollars out of our collective pay check every month next year.

This, of course, contemplates ultimate expenditures of forty-five billion dollars or more during the fiscal year beginning July 1. This projected total is based upon a statement by the federal budget director who recently estimated the current year's expenditures would be more.

As to our fiscal situation under such a new budget, he said with present tax laws we face the possibility of a deficit at a time when a surplus is needed to help curb inflationary pressures, reduce public debt and provide some reserve against the unpredictable hazards of a world not yet at peace.

It would appear from his language that the nation's top fiscal adviser was warning us of the need for surplus budgeting and inflation brakes at this time while presaging policies requiring more inflation through deficit budgeting.

With a federal debt of a quarter of a trillion dollars deeply woven into individual savings and resources of virtually every financial institution in the country, we dare not risk shaking public confidence in the whole financial structure by resorting again to extended deficit spending.

Raising taxes must be approached with extreme caution against stifling production. And, expounding inflation as a source of revenue is not

Condition of Two Injured "Fair"; One Returns Home

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Dec. 31 — The two young Bensalem township men who were injured when the automobile in which they were riding skidded at Bristol Pike and Hulmeville road, yesterday morning, are reported in fair condition. Russell Hanssens, Jr., 19, School Lane, Cornwells Heights, returned to his home at three o'clock yesterday afternoon from Nazareth Hospital, Phila. He had suffered from shock and cuts about the head. Hanssens is an employee of Schutte & Koerting Co.

Richard Brady, 18, Bristol Pike, Landis, an employee of Bensalem Laundry Service, remains in Nazareth Hospital. His right arm was injured, and results of X-rays are awaited to determine extent of injury. He sustained a cut over the right eye requiring three stitches, and was badly bruised.

The car, a sedan, was owned by Russell Hanssens, Sr., father of the driver, Russell, Jr.

The car skidded, it is stated, as the two travelled east on Bristol Pike, snapped off a utility pole, a highway direction sign and a highway section marker in front of St. Elizabeth's Convent. The left side of the car was stove in and the right side bulged out, the machine being completely wrecked. The injured were hurled from the vehicle, and the spare tire and tools were scattered over an area 40 feet from the car.

Yocum Named Acting Company Commander

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 31 — Cadet Charles W. Yocum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Yocum, 1527 Wilson avenue, Bristol, Penna., has been appointed an acting company commander for the period of the Christmas holidays. It is stated that Yocum, a fourth classman or freshman, in the past half year has shown outstanding leadership qualities such that he has been selected for the command.

During the Christmas holidays the upper three classes receive a leave which gives the freshman a chance to show their abilities and to take charge of the regular duties of the cadet chain of command. With such a policy every cadet receives the opportunity to command so that he may gain the attributes of a good leader.

Cadet Yocum was graduated from Morrisville high school in Morrisville, Pa., in 1943 and later served 21 months as an aviation cadet in the Air Force. Yocum also spent one year preparing for entrance to the Academy at the Martin College in Philadelphia by taking the industrial engineering course. SPEAKER TELLS OF IMMIGRANT QUOTAS

Max Franzen Addresses The Bristol Rotary Club At Session Here

ADMITTING REFUGEES

Max Franzen, Community Director of the International Institute of Philadelphia, an agency established to aid immigrants when they arrive in this country, was the guest speaker at the Rotary Club meeting yesterday afternoon in St. James Parish House when he gave a talk on immigration and related problems.

One new member, Edward Broden, Philco Corporation, Croydon, was inducted into the Rotary Club. E. L. Helwig gave Broden the club charge.

Franzen pointed out that although the U. S. Immigration Law of 1924 allowed for 153,000 persons per year to be admitted to the United States, yet that total has never been reached in any one year.

He pointed out that displaced persons and refugees are now being admitted in limited numbers under a special act. These displaced persons and refugees, Franzen said, are highly skilled and highly educated for the most part and are a very desirable group for this country.

"The vast majority of them are anti-Communist, since they left their homelands when the Communists moved into their home countries. They are the kind of people that will find a place in America," Franzen said.

Speaking of his own organization, Franzen said the International Institute holds English classes for the new immigrants and attempts in various ways to make the newcomers feel that they are wanted in this country. The institute also aids in forming clubs of different nationalities and groups.

Following his talk Franzen answered a number of questions for the members. President Warren Woodruff was in charge of the meeting.

HUNDREDS OF HOMES INUNDATED BY RISING STREAMS; RESIDENTS ARE FORCED TO SEEK SAFETY OVER-NIGHT; COLD WINDS, SLEET AND SNOW ARE THE PREDICTIONS

Residents Will Usher In '49 In Variety of Ways

Parties (both public and private). Watch-night services in churches, visits to nearby cities to watch the festivities—all will be part of the New Year celebration for residents of Bucks County.

As in past years many residents who do not attend any specific celebration, will await the midnight hour and the arrival of 1949, giving opportunity to use horns or other noise makers. Bells and whistles will be sounded as the New Year arrives.

On the holiday there will be no regular mail deliveries here, although special delivery letters will be sent out with dispatch.

Many will spend tomorrow in Phila., witnessing the Mummies parade, while others will sit in the warmth of their homes and view it on television sets. Business places will be closed here tomorrow.

READ THE PRIZE LIST

Once again, at the stroke of midnight tonight, an annual event which gets top billing in Bristol will be under way.

It is the Bristol Courier's annual Baby Derby Contest.

As we bid adieu to 1948 and file it away in history the Courier's 1949 Derby will be officially open.

The event is made possible each year by the Courier and a group of co-operating businessmen, who, although they know nothing except the starting time for the contest, are planning to pleasantly surprise the winner.

The important question now is, "Who will be the first baby to be born of parents living in this area in 1949?"

That baby, provided he is officially entered in the Bristol Courier Baby Derby, will be showered with an array of lovely gifts from the business establishments who have made the Derby possible.

Headlining the gift array is an unusual one from Safe Food Markets. The winner will be presented with two cases of tall cans of milk, the brand to be indicated by the Waters of Neshaminy and Perkiomen Creeks, Also Schuylkill River Overflow Banks — Boats, Canoes Used to Take Some Folks in Croydon Area to Higher Ground — Bungalows in Hulmeville Park Are Surrounded — Some Highways Closed When Water Overflows Stream Banks.

Cold winds, sleet and snow were predicted for Eastern Pennsylvania today with hundreds of homes inundated by a steady two-day rain which swelled rivers and creeks.

The weatherman predicted snow flurries and still lower readings for New Year's Day.

Waters of the Schuylkill River and the Perkiomen and Neshaminy Creeks spilled over their banks as the result of a rainfall which reached nearly three inches this morning.

Other smaller streams flooded low-lying areas in Montgomery, Bucks, Delaware and Berks counties. The Schuylkill reached a stage of 14.67 feet at Reading last night; flood stage is 13 feet.

In Bucks county, several families vacated homes on Creek road along the west bank of the Neshaminy when water crept into cellars. Fields were flooded by the Neshaminy also in Chalfont.

Lake Lenape dam in the Sellersville area was clogged with ice. Street Road at Route 611 in Doylestown was closed by state police because of an overflow from the Neshaminy.

Ice jams were reported along the Delaware from the Bucks county line below Easton to Morrisville as the river rose seven feet overnight.

On the west bank of the Neshaminy Creek, opposite Newportville, a number of families sought safety overnight with relatives and friends. During the afternoon several of the residents in the lower area left their homes as the waters continued to rise; and about four o'clock in the afternoon several had to be taken to safety in boats.

Those who found it necessary to leave their homes temporarily are: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ludwig and family, who remained with relatives overnight and this morning; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sacks, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. James Salvatore, Mr. and Mrs. William Schneider and children, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Horma and children, Mrs. Ethel Compton and family.

The ice which had broken further up-stream, was carried down at about seven o'clock yesterday morning, it is stated, and the creek was fairly high then. With the continued rain and melting of ice and snow, the Neshaminy continued to rise until by noon and mid-afternoon it overflowed the roadway between Hulmeville and Newportville. It was possible for automobiles to continue through at low speed for

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan (Distributed by International News Service)

At this date it appears the most spectacular injuries of 1948 were suffered by Mr. Dewey in the men's division and Miss Emerson in the ladies group.

But according to Democrat claims what happened to Dewey was no accident.

Miss Emerson's mishap was not without great public benefit. . . 32 thousand husbands are cleaning out the medicine cabinet this week under orders.

And those who don't know what to do with their old razor blades are receiving suggestions.

The best method still is to buy pullman space to the next station and look for the slot marked "old blades" in the smoker.

And a Happy New Year to you too.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1948

1948 OR 1949—A PARALLEL

On New Year's Day of 1949 it seems pertinent to recall, without comment, the words of Alexis de Tocqueville in his "Democracy in America," written in 1835:

"There are at the present time two great nations in the world, which started from different points, but seem to tend toward the same end. I allude to the Russians and the Americans.

"All other nations seem to have nearly reached their natural limits, and they have only to maintain their power; but these are still in the act of growth. All the others have stopped, or continue to advance with extreme difficulty; these alone are proceeding with ease and celerity along a path to which no limit can be perceived.

"The American struggles against the obstacles that nature opposes to him; the adversaries of the Russians are men. The former combats the wilderness and savage life; the latter, civilization with all its arms. The conquests of the American are therefore gained by the plowshare; those of the Russian by the sword. The Anglo-American relies upon personal interest to accomplish his ends and gives free scope to the unguided strength and common sense of the people; the Russian centers all the authority of society in a single arm.

"The principal instrument of the former is freedom; of the latter, servitude. Their starting-point is different and their courses are not the same; yet each of them seems marked out by the will of Heaven to sway the destinies of half the globe."

COURAGE

A Tokyo dispatch described former Premier Hideki Tojo and six other warmongering Japanese warlords as going to their deaths courageously, and with their faces serene, clear and clean.

This courage is not to be confused with the courage shown by Americans executed by the Japanese, which was of a quality to win admiration. They did not want to die, and their deaths were ordered by barbarians. The hanging of Tojo and the six almost amounted to the conferring of an honor upon them, according to their standards. Before their execution they gave 10,000 cheers for the emperor and the Japanese way of life.

That meant they went to their deaths as unrepentant Japanese murderers who were still practicing Shintoism. The Shinto belief gave them false courage. It was the sort of courage that motivated the Kamikaze dive bombers.

It is not correct, therefore, to assume that Tojo and his fellow criminals were brave. They were merely dying in accordance with the beliefs which led the Japanese to war, and to a very bestial method of warfare. The report also stated that their faces were clean.
But it did not mention that their hands were stained with the blood of their victims.

Asks Congress To Consolidate Budget Items

only repugnant: it is inimical and dangerous.

There is one safe and sane method to secure the surplus commended by the budget director. It is to cut expenditures.

When the new budget recommendations are made in January they will cover innumerable expenditures for:

Domestic policies dominated by subsidies at the rate of three-quarters of a billion dollars a month in the form of payments to individuals, agricultural and business supports, and grants to states, localities and project areas.

Foreign policies founded on the keystone of international subsidies at the rate of three-quarters of a billion dollars a month.

Military defense policies requiring a billion and a quarter a month; and Ordinary and incidental requirements, and debt costs which are running to nearly another billion a month.

Deficit can be avoided in that budget by stripping from it excess employment and nonessential or postonable policies, programs and projects.

But this can be done only if (1) there is the will to do it on the part of both the executive and legislative branches, (2) procedures are revised to assure its intelligent accomplishment, and (3) there is public support.

Although all government activities are originally authorized by congress, their economic and efficient operation is the responsibility of administration in the executive branch.

With respect to intelligent revision of the budget as a whole by congress, the applicable legislative procedures are so archaic the full effect of its budgetary action can not be determined until long after enactment.

There are primarily two reasons for this lack of intelligence. One is the fact that the budget is enacted in terms of appropriations whereas deficits are determined by expenditures in a given year, and there is a vast difference between appropriations and expenditures in these days of multi-year programs and projects.

Another reason is that the budget is broken down into nearly a score of appropriation bills—each handled by different subcommittees—and passed separately over a period of six months.

And, after the president's budget message is received there is never an opportunity to consider the appropriation-expenditure side of the budget as a whole, or to compare it with the revenue estimates.

In times such as this when the need to avoid deficits is urgent it is vital that the congress have an opportunity to act on the budget as a whole, so that intelligent and orderly reductions can be made in the items on the basis of their relative importance. This is virtually impossible under present procedures.

This situation could be remedied by simply changing the rules to consolidate all budget items—in terms of both appropriations and expenditures—into a single bill which could be totaled at all stages of legislative consideration.

If the public and congress were given this opportunity to keep informed as to the content of money legislation and its effect upon their tax bills there would be reason to expect vigorous demand for elimination of nonessentials.

There could be no better safeguard against government aggravation of inflation, deficit spending or higher taxes.

Searching Questions For Closing Hours

SUPPOSE IN 1948—I had passed from this life, where would my soul be now?

SUPPOSE IN 1948—I had been followed by everyone in my attitude and expression toward God, loved ones, neighbors and strangers: Would the world be better or worse right now?

ON JAN. 1ST, 1949—If the answers to these questions are not satisfactory, in my own mind: By the grace of God and with His help I will rise up and go forward.

"Ring out the false, ring in the true... Ring in the Christ." Tennyson wrote those words; we think on them. Jesus said, "Behold I make all things new." His spirit gives new lives for old. The teachings of Christ and his spirit are the finest heritage to carry from the old year to the new. "If any man is in Christ, he is a new creation." For a good new year take a fresh hold on the things that are eternal as revealed through Jesus.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM HAS BEEN KEEPING IN PRACTICE HERE

Not wishing to have his players go stale over the school holiday season, Coach Jerry Bloom has been calling practice sessions for the Bristol High Warriors in preparation for their forthcoming tilt with Trenton Catholic on the local court Tuesday night.

Bloom held a practice session yesterday, will hold another today, and has one scheduled for Monday afternoon at one o'clock. The high school court is being repaired so the players have been using but one-half of the wooden ways.

Coach Bloom is determined that his Warriors will be in the best of condition for the Wizards of Trenton. The fans of this section know of the rivalry that exists between the two schools and games have always been close.

Right now, the Golden Wave of Jersey is enjoying a winning streak of four games and has won five of their six scheduled games. To compare with this, Bristol has won three of its four games, having beaten Bordentown, Pennsbury, and Upper Merion. Its loss was to the Alumni five.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELMERSON

Time for reflection . . . in a matter of hours we'll be busily greeting a new year. And with its birth our thoughts will be hopefully projected to visions of more and better of everything . . . more hunting and better hunting, more fishing and better fishing, etc., etc.

But before we bid adieu to 1948 we pause and thankfully review the highlights of 1948. Conditions were good and bad, but there are many pleasant memories.

Trout fishing had its ups and downs with the early part of the season generally the more productive. I shared in some of the best trout fishing I've had in several years.

Non-game fishing produced some real sport locally, with many fine catfish and carp being taken.

Bass and pickerel fishing held sport for some. I went pickerelless but I know some beauties were taken from the Canal.

Smallmouth bass fishing (my favorite freshwater fishing) gave me some very exciting moments in 1948. The creels were not as heavy, but the bass taken were larger.

Silver Lake, Bristol's diamond in the rough, again proved a keen disappointment to all but the swimmers and bathers. Perhaps that picture will be brighter at the close of 1949.

Salt water fishing was generally better on all scores. I still miss my croaker fishing in the Jersey bays, however. Catching weakies on a dead line with fresh water equipment has proved an excellent substitute and at least one day in 1948 was spent in this sport . . . with good results.

Small game hunting was definitely below par, although I had some wonderful days afield (not from heavy kills, but from the pleasure of being in the outdoors and watching good dogs working). The dove hunters were fairly successful, but very few woodcock fell the prey of gunners in this area.

Duck season proved a disappointment because of the warm weather. The season closed just about the time it should have opened. The deer hunters didn't see as many bucks as they expected, but most of them had a week of real vacationing in their favorite deer country.

In spite of everything 1948 was a good year. And we know 1949 will be better.

Make all the resolutions you want for 1949. Most of them won't be kept. And most of them are unnecessary. If we kill less fish and game our sport will last that much longer. The heritage of the outdoors belongs to all of us. The responsibility for maintaining it is also our charge. We, and our children, will have it tomorrow if we take care of it today.

Trophy Offered For Best Conversion Job

At the last meeting for 1948 of the Aeromodelers, plans were made to begin projects in the club workshop. It was decided that on next Wednesday evening each member will take his project to the workshop, where it will be kept until completed. It was decided to present a trophy to the member who could do the best job of converting an old model or damaged one into a good-looking model.

The new national model airplane contest rules have been released by the Academy of Model Aeronautics of Washington, D. C. The rules are slightly different from last year's. Control line models and towline gliders are those affected by changes. In an effort to slow down speeds for safety sake the lengths of control lines in Class A have been increased to 52 ft. in length; Class B, 60 ft., and Class C and D to 70 feet. Stunt models must have a landing gear and must rise from the ground under their own power.

Towline gliders can now be towed aloft on a 200 ft. towline which must be supplied by the contest director.

Speed model flyers start off the 1949 season with a clean record state, that is, all old national records are made obsolete by the rule changes. Free flight records continue on from last year. These will be difficult to beat, however. It is claimed, since there is a 30 minute duration limit for three flights and nearly all open age records are within a few seconds of this maximum mark.

A trophy was presented to Archibald Dalrymple, of the Bristol Exchange Club, for support he has given the club.

Another "movie" show will be held on Jan. 12th.

Baby Derby Opens At Stroke of Midnight

doctor. Should the winner be one of twins or triplets, Safe Food Markets will give twenty-five cases of milk!

The rules and regulations for the 1949 Derby are very simple. They are as follows:

The winning entry must be born of parents living in Bristol or surrounding vicinity, and all entries must be born after midnight, December 31, 1948.

Send the name, address, doctor's report and birth certificate of all babies born after midnight tonight to the Baby Derby Editor, c/o The Bristol Courier. This information, which will be returned in every case, must be received at the Courier office not later than five p. m., Wednesday, January 5th.

No baby will be considered an entry in the Derby unless the information requested above is sent to the Derby Editor. No entries may be made by telephone.

The name, address, and time of arrival of the winner, will be published in the Courier on Friday, January 7th, 1949.

The list of co-operating business establishments, whose advertisements appear in another section of today's Courier, together with the lovely free gifts they will bestow upon the Derby Winner, include the following:

A bank, with five dollars in it, will be given the winner by Richman's, Mill street. And should the winner be a boy, Richman's will add another five dollars!

Smith's Model Shop will present a nursery lamp from their kiddies' department. The Lee-Lyn Kiddie Shop; Broshe's Drug Store has promised a beautiful and useful gift; Straus Cut Rate will give a Johnson & Johnson de luxe baby set; while J. S. Lynn will present a 10-kt. gold signet ring.

Pal-Mar Cut Rate will give a comb and brush set; Nichols Photo Service will present an Ansco pioneer flash camera. From Paroly's will come one dozen pairs of long or short infants' socks or stockings; and an album of children's records will be given from Auto Boys' record department. The management of the Ritz Theatre, Croydon, will present the winner and his parents with complimentary tickets to any five shows at the Ritz Theatre. Moffo's will present the winner with a pair of baby shoes; and Safe Food Markets will present 2 cases of tall cans of milk, and, if the winner is one of twins or triplets, the amount will be raised to 25 cases!

The fastest stork will drop the little bundle of love of joy who will wear a double crown, that of the New Year of 1949 and also that of the Bristol Courier Derby Winner. They're anxiously awaiting the signal to go . . . the entry of 1949.

Who will be the winner? Time alone will give us the answer to this question. It may be in the first bright hours of 1949 or it may be several days later. The whole story will appear in the Courier on January 7th, 1949.

At Hulmeville Park several residents found it necessary to seek safety elsewhere. Water surrounded bungalows in the low section of the park. These summer bungalows have, during the housing shortage, been used as year-round residences by many. It was necessary for the park caretaker, Herbert Claus, to disconnect the oil burner in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Streit, adjoining the refreshment stand, when waters reached an exceedingly high level. The Streits are in the South for the winter, but some time, however, before barricades were set up.

The waters continued to rise during the night, but by 2.15 this morning had started down.

Basements in the homes on the west side of the creek, opposite Newportville, filled up, and water soon surrounded some homes in the lowlands, although as far as could be learned water did not reach the first-floor level to harm furnishings.

The Compton family returned to its home last evening and remained there overnight, although the place was still surrounded by water this morning. The Sacks home also remained surrounded by water this morning, although waters had receded from the other properties in that area.

The Salvadore family attempted to reach its home by canoe last night but could not make it. Mrs. Louis Schneider and daughter, Mrs. Compton and Mr. and Mrs. Sacks were aided by boatmen yesterday at about four o'clock, and taken to dryer ground.
